

Pictures from around the world

Photos by Hal Worrall

A French Restaurant on a Bahamian Island

Fishing village, Peggy's Cove, Nova Scotia

Peaceful travel on a Sunday afternoon, Boston, MA

Sculpture in Gustav Vigeland Park, named after the artist who dedicated his life to sculpture in one location. Oslo, Norway

Hotel accommodations in Venice, Italy

The central business district of Venice, Italy (at least for tourist)

Construction techniques in renaissance Italy, Pisa

Pompey two thousand years after the eruption of Vesuvius. The streets were constructed for transit, storm water runoff and sewage.

Fresh foods depend on transportation, the European usually shops for food daily.

Europeans walk considerably more often than North Americans

Transportation played a large part in the construction and operations of the Coliseum

The Island of Capri, Italy

Every home has a view in Capri, Italy

Sunset in Venice, Italy

Inside St. Petersburg, Rome, Italy

